Guided tours
with La Générale
– assemblée d’architectes
 This guided visit explores BORD’s renovation and transformation through a walk across the site and its buildings.

The project was shaped through workshops, discussions with Rotor and the people already active on site, and a regular presence at BORD to better understand its daily rhythms, dynamics and needs. It is based on a series of targeted interventions that improve the site’s current functioning by working with existing structures rather than adding new buildings.

A public discussion moderated by BMA – Bouwmeester Maitre Architecte
 This public discussion will explore what a productive site like BO-RD can bring to Brussels. The project to transform BO-RD is still very much ongoing – and will likely remain so, since embracing openness and adaptability is central to the approach. However, now is a good time to take a step back, reflect on what has been done so far, and consider where we want to go next. Drawing on images and references, the discussion between the BMA and Rotor will address the different facets of the project and its implications for Rotor, productive areas in Brussels, and the future of the ‘circular economy’.
 Join us at the Door Pavilion, specially reconfigured for the occasion.
